SCHWAB, FAMOUS STEEL MASTER, TAKEN BY DEATH

One-Time "Strong Man of Steel" Succumbs In
New York

FUNERAL RITES TO BE THURSDAY

Founder of Bethlehem Started With Dollar-
a-Day Job

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Death
at 77 has ended the fabulous career of Charles M. Schwab, the $1 a day stake driver who became one of America's steel titans.

The white-haired onetime "strong man of steel," first president of the billion-dollar U. S. Steel corporation and founder of the Bethlehem Steel company died peacefully in his Park avenue apartment last night of coronary thrombosis.

"Just Slipped Away"
At his bedside were his brother
Edward and the latter's wife.
"He just slipped away," said the brother.

Schwab, who returned from Europe Aug. 31, had been in poor health since the death last January of his wife, whose inspiration he often said brought him more happiness than his power or his millions.

Funeral services, his brother said,
probably will be held Thursday at St. Patrick's cathedral.

Schwab's other survivors are two daughters, Mrs. David Barry and Sister Cecilia, a nun in the Carmelite monastery, Loretto, Pa., which Schwab built for the order.

The son of a wool factory mill
hand, Schwab quit a $3 a week
job as a grocery clerk to take a laborer's job driving stakes in a steel plant at Braddock, Pa., owned by Carnegie Brothers & Co.

In the evening, the 18-year-old boy studied the steel business and gave piano lessons to steelworkers' children at 50 cents an hour. In three years, he was manager of the plant at $250 a month. At 21, he married Emma Euranika Dinkey, daughter of the first steel works
chemist in the United States.

Helped Carnegie
Schwab soon became labor "trou-bleshooter" for Andrew Carnegie,
the steelmaster, who liked the tall,
husky young executive and boosted him rapidly. He was only 35 in 1897 when he became president of the Carnegie Steel company and in three years raised its profits from $7,000,000 to $40,000,000.

The late J. Pierpont Morgan made him president of the newly-formed U. S. Steel corporation in 1901, two years later Schwab
took up a million-dollar-a-year contract because he said he was tired of having "too many bosses."

Moved by his self-admitted mania
to be the mainspring of any enterprise he embarked upon, Schwab put $15,000,000 of his own money
and his limitless energy into the founding of Bethlehem Steel.

F.D.R. To Address Congress Thursday On Neutrality Plan

Begins Work On Message Today; Calls On European Belligerents To Renew Their Pledges Against Bombing Civilians

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—President Roosevelt has made tentative arrangements to address a joint session of the senate and house on neutrality early Thursday afternoon.

Stephen T. Early, a presidential secretary, said Mr. Roosevelt would begin drafting his message today. It is expected to deal almost exclusively with revision of the neutrality law.

Early said the message would be very brief. Present plans call for the President to deliver it about 2 p. m. (EST).

Early said that the hour for the speech was, of course, subject to change after legislative leaders reached Washington and surveyed the situation.

In response to a Polish appeal,
President Roosevelt has called on European belligerents to renew
their pledge against the bombing
of civilians from the air. He expressed last night his "earnest
hope" that warring nations "will
take measures to assure themselves that their respective air
forces are showing that regard for
the lives of non-combatants which
their replies to my appeal of Sept.
1 have led the world to expect."

Replies to Polish Message
Mr. Roosevelt's statement replied
to a message from President Mos-
cicki of Poland saying that "for
some days past German aircraft
have deliberately and methodically
been bombing Polish towns and villages which contain no conceivable
military objectives."

Mr. Roosevelt said he was "deeply shocked" by this statement as well as by other reports he had received, including some foreign
American official in Poland.

(Mr. Roosevelt's appeal of Sept.
1 to refrain from bombing civilian
populations was addressed to Germany, Poland, Great Britain, France
and Italy. He received assurances
from the four belligerents.)

The presidential statement last
night was only one of the repercussions of the European war
sounded in a capital astr with preparations for the special session of congress Thursday. Other developments:

1. Secretary Morgenthau said
he was disturbed by the decline in
the British pound and was seeking
means of combating speculation in
the currency.

2. Secretary Wallace called his newly approved agricultural advisory council today to discuss farm
and food supply situations.

3. Mr. Roosevelt issued an executive order providing for an increase of 2,000 men in the coast
guard.

4. Discussion of administration
proposals to revise the neutrality
law continued, with Senator Borah
(R-Idaho), outspoken foe of the
suggested changes, contending that
a rift had developed in the ranks
of administration supporters as a result of the recent signs of friendliness between Germany, Russia
and Japan.

5. The German embassy asserted in a statement that retreating Polish troops left mustard gas mines
on a bridge in violation of a 1925
pact outlawing poisonous gas warfare.

Charles McCormick.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.
m. Wednesday at the Memorial building.

All Republican candidates for
municipal offices and precinct committeemen are expected to be present. Other party members are also

of the Columbiana county Boy Scout council will be outlined at a meeting of scoutmasters of the
county Wednesday night, Sept. 27,
at the McKinley reservation near Lisbon.

Scout activities hit a lull during September, a period between the
close of summer camps and the re-
adjustment of the boys to school
work. It is explained by Commissioner Eddie Howell.

A court of honor for the scouts
will be held at 7:30 p. m. Thursday night in the Memorial building.

Yells Scare Robber

ALLIANCE, Sept. 19.—Police are
searching for a blond youth, about 20, who failed in an effort to hold
up E. E. Miller's grocery store Monday morning.

Miller told police the youth entered with a knife in his hand and
told the proprietor "this is a hold-
up." The grocer ducked behind a counter and started shouting. The youth fled.

958 ENROLLED IN HIGH SCHOOL

Second Week of School Gets Under Way; Miss Hollett's Room
Wins Association Drive

Salem High school students began their second week of school
yesterday with the total enrollment
up to 958, Principal H. M. Williams
disclosed.

This is a gain of 46 over the opening day's registration of 912 pupils.
Room 233, a Senior home room
taught by Miss Mildred Hollett, today won the Salem High School
association cup in being the first to report a 100 per cent membership in the drive which is now in progress.

The first assembly sponsored by
the association will be held in the High school auditorium Thursday,
Sept. 28, featuring the Ritz Trum-
peters, a musical organization.

Contempt Charges Are Aired In Court

LISBON, Sept. 19.—A court hearing of contempt charges filed by striking employees as well as officials of the Fummitville Face Brick Co., of Summitville, was under way
here today.

Both sides claim violation of an injunction restraining the two groups from acts of violence in connection with labor difficulties at
the plant. The contempt charges
were filed after incidents at the
plant Aug. 22.

Ellenwood has had a wide experience in this field of work. The meeting has been arranged by the
agricultural agents of the two counties at the request of a number of growers. A large number of growers in this area are expected to attend.

Perry Inspection Is Planned Wednesday

Perry grange will hold inspection
at the regular meeting Wednesday
evening in the hall.

An apple pie contest will be a feature of the entertainment. The winner of the contest will participate in the Pomona grange pie contest in November and the winner
there will go to Columbus in December to take part in the state
grange contest.

Shotguns To Roar Sunday In 'Hunter's Special' Shoot

Novice marksmen and scattergun
shooters who do most of their firing in the field will take over the
trap and skeet ranges at the Salem
Country Club Sunday for the Salem
Gun club's "Hunters' Special"
shoot.

The shooting program will open
at 1 p. m. The novice shoots in trap and skeet will be limited strictly to shooters who have had little
or no experience on the ranges.

George Baillie, secretary of the Salem Gun club, who will be in charge of the program, said the
shoots are designed to give hunters
practice before the opening of hunting season.

Squirrel season opens next Monday, Baillie said, and many shooters
who will trek through the fields
and woods on opening day are expected to take advantage of the opportunity to get in a little practice.

It will not be necessary for shooters to fire at a full round of 25 birds. Baillie declared, adding that the club will permit a shooter to bang away at as few or as many targets as he desires.

However, there will be competitive events for the novices in both trap and skeet. Prizes will be awarded winners. The competitive shoots will be 25-bird events.

Along with the "Hunters' Special"
shoots there will be a "diamond pin" trapshoot for the Columbiana county championship. The diamond pin, emblematic of the county championship, is now worn by R. C.
McAllister of Salem.

No 'Intention Of War' With France, England, But Bombs Are Ready

(By Associated Press)
DANZIG, Sept. 19.—(By radio)—Adolf Hitler emphasized today that "we have no
war intention against either England or France," but that Poland, as created by the treaty of Versailles, would never rise again.

"Russia and Germany will settle this (Polish) situation and this will result in the removal of the tension," he declared.

saying the word "surrender" would not be uttered.

"Nor at the end of the sixth or the seventh year," he shouted. "The generation of today is not the generation of Bethmann-Hollweg."

Earlier he had said the Germany of today "no longer is a country to which ultimatums
can be dictated."

"We will give bomb against bomb, not only one but 500 bombs," he shouted.

Reviewing the events leading up to Germany's invasion of Poland, Hitler, in an international broadcast, carried in the United States by NBC, welcoming Danzig back into the reich, said the state of affairs became "impossible" in September after he had believed in August that it would be possible to come to an understanding.

He said he had suffered much from Poland in the last six years, but he had not sent them an ultimatum.

Citing attempts by Premier Mussolini to bring a peaceful settlement of the dispute,
he said, England intervened. Then he shouted:

"England sent an ultimatum to Germany, but the day is past when anyone can send an ultimatum to the reich."

Hitler said he earlier had attempted to find a "reasonable solution to the problem," but indicated it became impossible with the death of Poland's Marshal Joseph Pilsudski.

Sought To Establish Borders Upon The Germans.

He had sought, he said, to establish borders in the west and south
and to make an agreement with Pilsudski which had as its purpose
amicable relations between the Poles and the Germans.

"As long as Pilsudski lived this
was possible," he said.

The fuhrer said he was depressed
by suffering the Nazis endured at
the hands of an inferior state,
"while Germany was a superior
state."

He told the world that nations
doubting the word of German
statesmen should also be critical of
the statesmen of the countries

Great Moment For All Of Germany

This great moment, the fuhrer
said, was not for Danzig alone,
but for all the German people.

The fate of Danzig, Hitler said,
was the fate of all Germany.

The peace imposed on the Germans at Versailles, Hitler said,
had worked great oppression, but
the time had come for them to live
again, he added.

His voice, which had been under
considerable restraint when he started, rose to high emotional tensity at times.

If the world outside Germany
thinks it should not believe in
the word of German statesmen,
Hitler continued, it should also
be critical of the statesmen of the
countries which forced the peace

"Poles Told They Could Resist"

"The man who had spoken thusly," Hitler said, "was a Polish general who has deserted his army."

The Poles were told they could resist Germany, and if they were not strong enough they could in any case expect the help of others.

Hitler said English statesmen
like Churchill, Eden, Duff-Cooper
and others always preached war.

He said he went to Berlin and "waited and waited" and even worked out some new proposals,
but "nothing happened except a general mobilization by Poland."

"For years I have been extremely patient," he went on.

For years, Hitler asserted, he begged to change the state of affairs, but he knew "an end must come."

His patience "comes to end" again
he aimed at world conquest.

"Our interests are very limited,
but we shall protect them against any man, and that we will not be allowed to let ourselves be toyed with in this respect, I think the past 18 days have shown."

"Russia and Germany will settle this situation and this will result in the removal of the tension."

Germany, he said, had made "the absolute resolve" never to let Danzig go again.

"Danzig was German, stayed
German and will now forever remain German." Again the crowds
roared approval.

Generations, he said, may come
past 20 years of "this city."

"This German state, the confederation of all the German tribes
will forever fight together," he yelled, and the crowd responded
with "seig heil!"

in this limited energy into the
founding of Bethlehem Steel.

F.D.R. To Address Congress Thursday On Neutrality Plan

Pledges Against Bombing Civilians

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—President Roosevelt has made tentative arrangements to address a joint session of the senate and house on
neutrality early Thursday afternoon.

begin drafting his message today. It is expected to deal almost exclusively with revision of the neutrality law.

Early said the message would be very brief. Present plans call for the President to deliver it about 2 p. m. (EST).

Early said that the hour for the speech was, of course, subject to change after legislative leaders reached Washington and surveyed the
situation.

In response to a Polish appeal,
President Roosevelt has called on European belligerents to renew
their pledge against the bombing
of civilians from the air. He expressed last night his "earnest
hope" that warring nations "will
take measures to assure themselves that their respective air
forces are showing that regard for
the lives of non-combatants which
their replies to my appeal of Sept.
1 have led the world to expect.

Replies to Polish Message
Mr. Roosevelt's statement replied
to a message from President Mos-
cicki of Poland saying that "for
some days past German aircraft
have deliberately and methodically
been bombing Polish towns and villages which contain no conceivable
military objectives."

Mr. Roosevelt said he was "deeply shocked" by this statement and wondered if other reports he had received, including some foreign
American official in Poland.

Mr. Roosevelt's appeal of Sept. 1
to refrain from bombing civilian
many, Poland, Great Britain, France
and Italy. He received assurances
from the four belligerents.)

night was only one of the repercussions of the European war
sounded in a capital astr by preparations for the special session of congress Thursday. Other developments:

1. Secretary Morgenthau said
he was disturbed by the decline in
the British pound and was seeking
means of combating speculation in
the currency.

2. Secretary Wallace called his
newly approved agricultural advisory council today to discuss farm
and food supply situations.

3. Mr. Roosevelt issued an executive order providing for an increase of 2,000 men in the coast
guard.

4. Discussion of administration
proposals to revise the neutrality
law continued, with Senator Borah
(R-Idaho), outspoken foe of the
suggested changes, contending that
a rift had developed in the ranks
of administration supporters as a
result of the recent signs of friendliness between Germany, Russia
and Japan.

5. The German embassy asserted in a statement that retreating
Polish troops left mustard gas mines
on a bridge in violation of a 1925
pact outlawing poisonous gas warfare.

liness between Germany, Russia
and Japan.

Arthur Limbach, state Democratic chairman, had indicated he would confer today with Atty Gen.
Thomas J. Herbert concerning a suit brought in common pleas court to stay operation of the law, which also made numerous changes in the merit system operation.

The new position pays $4,000 a year and the term is for six years.

Gertrude Jones of Findlay, named last week to succeed Ralph Em-mons, whose term expired. Serving with them will be Carl Smith of year.

"In my judgment the law is now
in effect and it is my duty to appoint a third member," Bricker said
in announcing Mitchell's selection.
The governor added that any attempt to enjoin by court order operation of the law conflicted with constitutional provisions.

G. O. P. TO MEET ON WEDNESDAY

Salem Club To Reorganize, Outline Plans For Fall Campaign

A meeting of the Salem Republican club for re-organization and discussion of plans for the fall campaign was called today by President
Charles McCormick.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.
m. Wednesday at the Memorial
building.

All Republican candidates for
municipal offices and precinct com-
mitteemen are expected to be present. Other party members are also urged to attend.

Officers will be elected and the reports of the various committees submitted to the club. A financial report will also be given.

Scout Heads Plan County's Program

Plans for fall and winter activities
of the Columbiana county Boy
Scout council will be outlined at a
meeting of scoutmasters of the
county Wednesday night, Sept. 27,
at the McKinley reservation near Lisbon.

Scout activities hit a lull during September, a period between the
close of summer camps and the re-
adjustment of the boys to school
sioner Eddie Howell.

A court of honor for the scouts
will be held at 7:30 p. m. Thursday

ALLIANCE, Sept. 19.—Police are
searching for a blond youth, about 20, who failed in an effort to hold
up E. E. Miller's grocery store Mon-
day morning.

Miller told police the youth en-
told the proprietor "this is a hold-
counter and started shouting. The
youth fled.

Shotguns To Roar Sunday In 'Hunter's Special' Shoot

Novice marksmen and scattergun
shooters who do most of their fir-
trap and skeet ranges at the Salem
Gun club's "Hunters' Special"
shoots.

The shooting program will open
trap and skeet will be limited strict-
or no experience on the ranges.

George Baillie, secretary of the Salem Gun club, who will be in
charge of the program, said the
shoots are designed to give hunters
practice before the opening of hunting season.

Squirrel season opens next Monday, Baillie said, and many shooters
who will trek through the fields
and woods on opening day are ex-

958 ENROLLED IN HIGH SCHOOL

Second Week of School Gets Under Way: Miss Hollett's Room
Wins Association Drive

Salem High school students began their second week of school
yesterday with the total enrollment
up to 958, Principal H. M. Williams
disclosed.

This is a gain of 46 over the opening day's registration of 912 pupils.
Room 233, a Senior home room
taught by Miss Mildred Hollett, to-
day won the Salem High School
association cup in being the first to report a 100 per cent membership in the drive which is now in progress.

The first assembly sponsored by
the association will be held in the High school auditorium Thursday,
Sept. 28, featuring the Ritz Trum-
peters, a musical organization.

Contempt Charges Are Aired In Court

LISBON, Sept. 19.—A court hear-
ing of contempt charges filed by
striking employees as well as officials of the Summitville Face Brick
here today.

Both sides claim violation of an
injunction restraining the two
groups from acts of violence in connection with labor difficulties at
were filed after incidents at the
plant Aug. 22.

Ellenwood has had a wide experience in this field of work. The
meeting has been arranged by the
agricultural agents of the two counties at the request of a number of
growers. A large number of growers in this area are expected to
attend.

Epidemic Of Rabies Reported In County

LISBON, Sept. 19.—An epidemic of rabies due possibly to the extremely hot weather last week, has broken out in the county according to Dog Warden Dan Butch, who warns all owners to keep their dogs chained.

Since last Thursday the dog warden has sent four heads to Columbus, the latest the head of a calf owned by Ray Daley of Wellsville.
R. D. which was sent to Columbus Monday for examination following the death of the animal, which had shown rabid symptoms.

Encouraging, however, was a negative report which came back from Columbus on the head of a dog owned by Robert Keeper of Wells-ville. The report on a dog owned by Henry Dustman of Leetonia proved positive, and two cases are yet to be heard from.

(By Associated Press)
DANZIG, Sept. 19.—(By radio)—Adolf Hitler emphasized today that "we have no
war intention against either England or France," but that Poland, as created by the treaty
of Versailles, would never rise again.

"Russia and Germany will settle this (Polish) situation and this will result in the removal of the tension," he declared.

However, he expressed a determination to continue the war as long as he was forced,
saying the word "surrender" would not be uttered.

"Nor at the end of the sixth or the seventh year," he shouted. "The generation of
today is not the generation of Bethmann-Hollweg."

Earlier he had said the Germany of today "no longer is a country to which ultimatums
can be dictated."

"We will give bomb against bomb, not only one but 500 bombs," he shouted.

Reviewing the events leading up to Germany's invasion of Poland, Hitler, in an international broadcast, carried in the United States by NBC, welcoming Danzig back into the reich, said the state of affairs became "impossible" in September after he had believed
in August that it would be possible to come to an understanding.

He said he had suffered much from Poland in the last six years, but he had not sent them an ultimatum.

Citing attempts by Premier Mussolini to bring a peaceful settlement of the dispute,
he said, England intervened. Then he shouted:

"England sent an ultimatum to Germany, but the day is past when anyone can send
an ultimatum to the reich."

Hitler said he earlier had attempted to find a "reasonable solution to the problem,"

FRENCH, ENGLISH WILL 'CARRY ON'

War Goes On, Says Paris, In Spite Of Soviet Occupation Of Poland

(By Associated Press)
PARIS, Sept. 19.—The French government tonight made known its determination to prosecute the European war in spite of Soviet Russia's invasion of Poland.

A semi-official statement on the eve of a cabinet meeting tomorrow said that France would continue to carry out her war policy in cooperation with Britain.

"The occupation of part of Poland by the Russian army can not affect in any way the position taken by the two great democracies,"
the statement said.

Meeting Arranged By Fruit Growers

Fruit growers of Columbiana and Mahoning counties will discuss the picking and handling of apples at a field meeting to be held in the orchard of W. L. Peicht and son,
one-fourth mile north of Greenford,
Thursday afternoon, Sept. 21, from 1:30 to 3:30.

C. W. Ellenwood, associate in horticulture, of the Ohio experiment station, Wooster, will discuss and demonstrate the proper time for picking the various varieties of apples and the methods of handling
for good storage.

Ellenwood has had a wide experience in this field of work. The
meeting has been arranged by the
agricultural agents of the two counties at the request of a number of
growers. A large number of grow-

Perry Inspection Is Planned Wednesday

Perry grange will hold inspection
at the regular meeting Wednesday
evening in the hall.

An apple pie contest will be a
feature of the entertainment. The
winner of the contest will participate in the Pomona grange pie con-
test in November and the winner
there will go to Columbus in December to take part in the state
grange contest.

His Patience 'Comes To End' Again

He said he had given orders to the air force to conduct their warfare humanely, but they had been ambushed, he declared.

"Here also will my patience come to an end," he said.

Russia entered Poland only to protect her minorities, Hitler said.
The attempted agreement between Russia and England had failed, he continued, but Germany and Russia had come to an agreement.

"But I wish to make one explanation," he said, "Russia will remain what it is, and Germany will remain what it is."

British statesmen will be glad to learn now of his intentions, he said.

Germany had talked matters over with Russia and the German objectives "are extremely limited."

"The nightmare of the British statesmen should now be dismissed," he said, referring to what he described as their charges that

Sought To Establish Borders

He had sought, he said, to estab-
lish borders in the west and south
and to make an agreement with Pilsudski which had as its purpose
amicable relations between the
Poles and the Germans.

"As long as Pilsudski lived this
was possible," he said.

The fuhrer said he was depressed
by suffering the Nazis endured at
the hands of an inferior state,
"while Germany was a superior
state."

He told the world that nations
doubting the word of German
statesmen should also be critical of
the statesmen of the countries
which forced the Versailles treaty
upon the Germans.

The Versailles peace offers, he said, spelled "stupidity," and cast doubt on the sanity of the men who went on.

Poland sought to make Poles out of German inhabitants of that country, he cried, and asked what England, France or America would have done under those circumstances.

He was introduced by Albert Forster, Nazi leader of Danzig, who said Hitler corrected the "injustices
of the Versailles treaty."

A silence fell over the crowd a moment later when Hitler, speaking at first in a calm voice, began addressing them.

Great Moment For All Of Germany

This great moment, the fuhrer
said, was not for Danzig alone,
but for all the German people.

The fate of Danzig, Hitler said,
was the fate of all Germany.

The peace imposed on the Ger-
mans at Versailles, Hitler said,
had worked great oppression, but
again, he added.

His voice, which had been under
considerable restraint when he
sity at times.

If the world outside Germany
thinks it should not believe in
the word of German statesmen,
Hitler continued, it should also
be critical of the statesmen of the
countries which forced the peace
terms upon the Germans.

States were cut up and destroyed
by those peace terms, der fuhrer
went on.

All the Polish territory taken away from Germany at the end of the World war held the best in German labor and culture, he said.

"Only those who are culturally created have the right to exist," he said.

He claimed that Polish newspapers published stories that the problem was not of Danzig, but one of boundaries and whether the Poles should defeat Germany in front of or "in back of Berlin."

As he continued his voice rose to the shrill pitch characterizing him
in moments of excitement.

"Poland chose war, and the statesmen of the west told her that Germany was poorly equipped and that moreover there was social unrest," Hitler said.

"Eighteen days have passed and the fact is that they were beaten
by a race of men," he thundered, while the crowd took up his enthusiasm anew and cheered.

"The statesmen have been shown what the German army can do and now they ought to have the proper point of view."

It must be admitted, he said, that the Poles were responsible for many atrocities.

"Women were massacred, men were massacred, and their eyes were stabbed out and they were killed when they lay wounded," he asserted.

"Danzig was German, stayed
German and will now forever remain German." Again the crowds
roared approval.

Generations, he said, may come
past 20 years "of this city."

"This German state, the confederation of all the German tribes
will forever fight together," he
yelled, and the crowd responded

GOLD STAR MOTHERS

President Roosevelt has designated Sept. 24 as Gold Star Mother day. It is a date which all of the United States should observe with utmost solemnity. There can be no better occasion for calling to remembrance the cost to this country when it allowed itself to become involved in a European war more than two decades ago.

America can forget the price of war as shown in unbalanced budget and national debt but it cannot forget the cost as written in the hearts of mothers who gave their sons. The date is one for solemn reflection on the wealth of its young manhood which any nation must pour into the coffers of war.

TAKE AN ORDER, PLEASE

If you happen to run across a brisk young man wearing a broad grin and a slightly weary look on a face which has carried a general note of gloom for several years, chances are he is a traveling salesman.

A new day had dawned for the men who go up and down the land taking orders for this and that as the representatives of the country's various manufacturing establishments.

To these emissaries of commerce it appears that a wall has broken down, releasing a flood of pent up orders. Purchasing agents who for years have let the salesmen cool their heels in outer offices are now waiting for them with an open door and a glad hand, ready to sign at the bottom of orders the like of which they have not seen for a long time.

This rush of orders does not mean that all is new found business. In many cases buyers are making their commitments for months in advance in the belief that prices are going to rise but some of the buying probably represents a net gain which, added to the other signs, points to a general improvement in the business world.

TOO MANY LOTS

Most American cities, especially those in industrial areas, are strangled because they are hemmed in with too many suburban allotments which never were developed. The American Society of Planning Officials has found in extensive surveys made in Michigan, New Jersey and New York.

During the wild expansion boom which preceded the depression, farmlands surrounding cities for many miles were chopped up in lots. Then the bottom fell out of the real estate market and they were left to grow up in weeds and tax delinquency.

Many of these allotments were laid out with little planning in small tracts without regard for parks and open spaces and with little attention to thoroughfares.

The planners suggest that some of them should be returned to use as farmland. Others can be replanted advantageously along modern lines. A few were laid out well enough that they will be desirable residence sites in the normal course of city expansion.

Nearly every city can benefit by appointing a new commission to see whether it outgrew its possibilities in those expansion days and what can be done by drawing in its girth for a new and better start along modern lines.

RUSSIA MARCHES IN

Russia decided a little sooner than had been anticipated that the opportune time had arrived for her to march into Poland and grab her share of the spoils of war. This does not mean that Russia is at war with England and France. Her statement of policy was worded carefully to avoid, if possible, a declaration of hostilities.

The whole Russian action is striking like the program of Germany with which she so recently reached an accord. There is the same talk of oppressed minorities, of the collapse of government in the area to be "emancipated" and of the protection of natural national interests.

By crossing the frontier ostensibly to "preserve order", Russia attempts to act in a way which will not make it necessary for England and France to declare war under their pledge to protect Poland. In fact some acute observers believe that the western allies are not surprised and not excessively displeased. They suspected that Hitler and Molotov had planned action like this, they feel that neither entirely trusts the other and they believe that when Poland falls, as it must in the face of new developments, a common border will keep a considerable part of the German army in the east lest other blood brothers of the Russians need "liberating".

ONE UNIFORM TO ANOTHER

Like it or not, the fact remains that the CCC is the greatest potential recruiting ground for good soldiers that the United States ever has had.

Non-military standing of the organization has been emphasized and enrollment in the CCC imposes no obligation of any kind upon its members to enter military service. Any suggestion that the corps be made a stepping stone to the army would be met by overwhelming objection.

The fact is inescapable, however, that there is a reservoir of 2,000,000 of America's finest young men, hardened physically by outdoor work and clean living and trained in the rudiments of discipline and that cooperation which makes an army.

It is no secret that the army expects a large share of the recruits to come from the CCC rolls when the army personnel is increased to meet newly announced quotas. In event of emergency most of them could be counted to enlist but whether they enlisted or not would not matter greatly for another war would find conscription in effect by the time ink on the declaration was dry.

nation. All hope that it may never be called for this purpose but if the need comes America will have still another reason to be glad it mobilized its unemployed youths for the valuable peacetime service they have performed.

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, September 20

THIS MAY be a day memorable for the removal of long-standing and tenacious obstacles, according to the lunar transits. This release from frustrating and static conditions may be due to the friendly intervention of an elderly person or an old institution as a reward for hard work, practical propositions and a show of determined resistance to difficult and constricting circumstances. The will to win will melt opposition of superiors or employers, but only through method of candor and integrity—not by duplicity or trickiness.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which their stability and endurance of character will be tested. Industry, merit, steadfastness and determination should break down tenacious obstacles and deep resistance of superiors or those in power. Resolution, adherence to principle, integrity and the will to win against all obstacles will enlist the substantial support of an elderly person or a long-established institution.

A child born on this day may be enterprising, industrious, practical and constructive. It may have shrewd and quick intuitions, especially when hostility of superiors must be vanquished.

OPPOSES NEUTRALITY STAND

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Rep. Frederick Smith (R-Ohio) opposed today any change in this country's neutrality law on the ground such action would be "a long step toward our participation in war."

"I don't believe the war in Europe is our war. There is no reason whatsoever why America even should think of taking part," Smith said.

He added in an interview that the "United States with its present monetary setup and a debt of $45,000,000,000 could not finance a war without completely bankrupting the government. This would mean the destruction of our constitution and our form of government."

"I intend to do everything in my power to prevent any change in the neutrality program. Sentiment is strongly against the administration's proposal to lift the arms embargo and permit cash and carry shipments of arms to belligerent nations."

"There would," said Smith, "be little cash anyway—it would be mostly carry—because any payments made in gold would be the same as giving away our products since we already have more gold than we can use."

Referring to arguments that repeal of the arms embargo would prevent rather than lead to complications, Smith said "I would like to see the proponents of a change to answer one question: 'Who would fight us if we don't repeal the embargo?'"

Smith said he hoped "public sentiment would be aroused sufficiently by discussions in congress to demand that the embargo be not repealed."

One development of the propaganda war is that while nearly everybody knew that the Germans made fine cameras, they are surprised to learn that the French and English don't have any.

Knowledge Of High Blood Pressure Gaining Ground

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

IN A REPORT on medical progress in the New England Medical Journal, Professor Fitz of Boston university, picks certain events as of importance in our knowledge of kidney disease and high blood pressure.

(1) Goldblatt's work on the production of high blood pressure experimentally by the progressive destruction of kidney tissue.

Working in the wards of a hospital, the physician soon learns that there is an intimate relationship between high blood pressure and chronic kidney disease. Seldom does he find marked elevations of blood pressure without at the same time discovering impairment of the kidneys. Associated with this and caused by the increased pressure it has to work against, is always some degree of heart involvement. Which phase of the condition will be uppermost depends on the individual case.

Compared to Triangle. The condition may be compared to a triangle; at one apex is the heart, at one the kidneys, and at a third the arteries. Which system will form the symptom is not the same in Smith as in Jones, but in each case all these symptoms—blood vessels, kidneys, heart—are more or less involved.

The question of which comes first arises. Does the kidney destruction cause the high blood pressure, or does the arterial degeneration in the kidneys cause them to fail.

Goldblatt came along with some experimental facts. By shutting off the circulation to the kidneys gradually, he was able to produce, in the course of time, high blood pressure. I saw a patient last week with an atrophied right kidney and high blood pressure. If the atrophied kidney were removed surgically, would the blood pressure fall? Such individuals may form a group in which high blood pressure can be cured by a single direct surgical approach.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

(2) Decreasing enthusiasm for other forms of surgery in high blood pressure, which are not getting the cheer they received a few years ago.

Adrenal Gland Surgery. The adrenal glands, for instance, secrete a substance—adrenalin—which, when injected into the veins, immediately raises blood pressure. The idea was conceived a few years ago that if the adrenals could be removed, one cause of high blood pressure would be removed also.

In clinics where this has been done, some enthusiastic reports followed, but skepticism prevailed. Now Ragoff and Marcus show by extensive experimental investigation

tion that prolonged increased secretion of the adrenals is incapable of producing prolonged high blood pressure, or of any change in the arteries even remotely resembling that which we see in high blood pressure.

(3) The formation of kidney stones. Different stones are composed of different chemical salts. The diet to keep down the formation of the different stones should not be the same. For cystine and uric acid stones, there should be an alkaline reaction; for the phosphate and calcium stones, the urine should be kept acid with an acid diet and ammonium chloride.

It is interesting to realize how much more is known concerning kidney stones than was known a few years ago. Albright says that when a patient asks whether his kidney stone can be dissolved, the question cannot be dismissed too lightly.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS

President Roosevelt has designated Sept. 24 as Gold Star Mother day. It is a date which all of the United States should observe with utmost solemnity. There can be no better occasion for calling to remembrance the cost to this country when it allowed itself to become involved in a European war more than two decades ago.

America can forget the price of war as shown in unbalanced budget and national debt but it cannot forget the cost as written in the hearts of mothers who gave their sons. The date is one for solemn reflection on the wealth of its young manhood which any nation must pour into the coffers of war.

TAKE AN ORDER, PLEASE

If you happen to run across a brisk young man wearing a broad grin and a slightly weary look on a face which has carried a general note of gloom for several years, chances are he is a traveling salesman.

A new day has dawned for the men who go up and down the land taking orders for this and that as the representatives of the country's various manufacturing establishments.

To these emissaries of commerce it appears that a wall has broken down, releasing a flood of pent up orders. Purchasing agents who for years have let the salesmen cool their heels in outer offices are now waiting for them with an open door and a glad hand, ready to sign at the bottom of orders the like of which they have not seen for a long time.

This rush of orders does not mean that all is new found business. In many cases buyers are making their commitments for months in advance in the belief that prices are going to rise but some of the buying probably represents a net gain which, added to the other signs, points to a general improvement in the business world.

TOO MANY LOTS

Most American cities, especially those in industrial areas, are strangled because they are hemmed in with too many suburban allotments which never were developed. The American Society of Planning Officials has found in extensive surveys made in Michigan, New Jersey and New York.

During the wild expansion boom which preceded the depression, farmlands surrounding cities for many miles were chopped up in lots. Then the bottom fell out of the real estate market and they were left to grow up in weeds and tax delinquency.

Many of these allotments were laid out with little planning in small tracts without regard for parks and open spaces and with little attention to thoroughfares.

The planners suggest that some of them should be returned to use as farmland. Others can be replanted advantageously along modern lines. A few were laid out well enough that they will be desirable residence sites in the normal course of city expansion.

Nearly every city can benefit by appointing a new commission to see whether it outgrew its possibilities in those expansion days and what can be done by drawing in its girth for a new and better start along modern lines.

RUSSIA MARCHES IN

Russia decided a little sooner than had been anticipated that the opportune time had arrived for her to march into Poland and grab her share of the spoils of war. This does not mean that Russia is at war with England and France. Her statement of policy was worded carefully to avoid, if possible, a declaration of hostilities.

The whole Russian action is striking like the program of Germany with which she so recently reached an accord. There is the same talk of oppressed minorities, of the collapse of government in the area to be "emancipated" and of the protection of natural national interests.

By crossing the frontier ostensibly to "preserve order", Russia attempts to act in a way which will not make it necessary for England and France to declare war under their pledge to protect Poland. In fact some acute observers believe that the western allies are not surprised and not excessively displeased. They suspected that Hitler and Molotov had planned action like this, they feel that neither entirely trusts the other and they believe that when Poland falls, as it must in the face of new developments, a common border will keep a considerable part of the German army in the east lest other blood brothers of the Russians need "liberating".

ONE UNIFORM TO ANOTHER

Like it or not, the fact remains that the CCC is the greatest potential recruiting ground for good soldiers that the United States ever has had.

Non-military standing of the organization has been emphasized and enrollment in the CCC imposes no obligation of any kind upon its members to enter military service. Any suggestion that the corps be made a stepping stone to the army would be met by overwhelming objection.

The fact is inescapable, however, that here is a reservoir of 2,000,000 of America's finest young men, hardened physically by outdoor work and clean living and trained in the rudiments of discipline and that cooperation which makes an army.

It is no secret that the army expects a large share of the recruits to come from the CCC rolls when the army personnel is increased to meet newly announced quotas. In event of emergency most of them could be counted to enlist but whether they enlisted or not would not matter greatly for another war would find conscription in effect by the time ink on the declaration was dry.

Thus, in spite of its pacific nature, the CCC is a great potential source of military strength for the nation. All hope that it may never be called for this purpose but if the need comes America will have still another reason to be glad it mobilized its unemployed youths for the valuable peacetime service they have performed.

CHAPTER XXXIV

Guy opened the French windows that gave on the balcony overlooking the avenue.

"And now since this room has grown so suddenly unpleasant," he wondered, "was there a double meaning of that?"—I suggest we eat our Christmas dinner. Would you bring the cocktail shaker into the dining room, please?"

As she walked ahead of him, head held high, he was reminded of the regal, unfortunate Marie Antoinette treading her last mile to the guillotine.

Against his better judgment, he had a keen interest to protect her, save her!

The law would be hard! Guy was not in the least surprised when the usually abstemious Toni drank two more cocktails before dinner.

That was to keep up her courage, he thought.

Seated at the glowing table, fragrant with his flowers, his resentment returned.

It could have been a lovely evening! But because she craved luxury she had spoiled it!

With all his heart, he tried to smother down his feeling for her. He must not be weak. Her beauty, this apartment, were the snares with which she carried on her terrible trade.

"Why so serious? You are bored, Mr. Halstead-Flagg?"—in a dangerously dulcet voice.

"Delilah!" His glass raised, the word slipped from him.

She laughed. "Samson!" He thought: ironically. "She's coming to go ahead. She knows I know the worst now. She'll try every woman's weapon for her own safeguarding."

He felt miserable. But hide it from her. Don't let her win.

"Suppose I pulled down your temple of beauty?" she asked innocently.

"Why should you?" she asked innocently.

"I have the advantage over Samson. I am not blind!"

"Then you couldn't be a vandal, destroying beauty?"

He drew a deep breath. "Couldn't I?"

"Why?" She looked puzzled. "You are joking. It is a queer brand of your American humor. Is it not?"

"Shall we drink," he asked recklessly watching her keenly, "to whoever wins out?"

She thought: "He cares for me, and knows it. He's going to fight his feeling. I am not good enough for Guy Halstead-Flagg!"

But she gave him a serene smile. "Mais certainement." Be coquettish. That would advance things. The mistress is lovely. The violet, also. They make me think of my beloved South of France. You know the Riviera? Your flowers, Mr. Guy—so kind of you to send them—remind me of the big perfume factories at Grasse, in the Alps.

They drank their cocktails.

Light from the tall red candles shone on silver and old Venetian glass. The soft illumination lent her face an added beauty. Golden hair looked like a halo.

He thought, with a deep regret, what a lovely mistress she would have made for his beloved home in Kentucky.

Dinner was over. They were back in the salon, alone.

It was just as Toni had desired it. Both on the yellow couch, a little table in front of them holding liqueurs, cigarettes and coffee.

She had told Zephirene to move the couch back from the fire. The heat was too great. During dinner Zephirene had done so.

She had fastened a spray of mistletoe to a lamp at one end of the settee, where Toni sat. It had passed unnoticed by her mistress.

Zephirene removed her uniform and got into street clothes.

Presently, her tread was heard in the foyer, and the front door banged. She had departed, thought Toni, relieved.

But Zephirene had not gone. She tucked back into the pantry, first taking the precaution to remove her shoes.

She peered through the crack. Sipping benedictine! How could a poor working girl afford such things? The kind and generous Monsieur Niklas was being made a fool of! Zephirene had her own peculiar code of "honor among thieves."

She had overheard that nasty remark, too, about the firewood! Madame would rue that remark. True, she cheated frequently, fixing the grocery bills, getting excellent rakes-off. But that was proper and fitting, she considered.

Madame had no business belittling her to this gentleman. Nor did Monsieur Niklas deserve to be deceived!

One more remark like that from Madame, and she would tell him of all the goings-on, even though she lost this job.

She saw Toni rise and open a window. Strains of Christmas carols filled the apartment.

"Perhaps," thought Zephirene, "she'd try to make him think her good? Try to make him propose?"

If that were brought about, she'd play up to her mistress, stick by her. This man looked like plenty of money. She'd have a good home, and even better pickings.

He came back with a slim volume in his hand.

The Sayings of Marcus Aurelius, bound in purple velvet and gilt, in old Italian style.

"That's beautiful! Thank you." She read a wise line here and there. "It should be very helpful, should it not? I mean, with his knowledge of human behavior?" Her eyes twinkled irrepressibly.

"You find me such a moralist, then?"

She dimpled at him. He saw the mistletoe above her head. He drew his own conclusions.

Beautiful girl alone in New York. Had seen better days. Rich, unscrupulous protector. Niklas surely was paying for this apartment. He was not at all sure of the French furnishings coming from the more or less mythical chateau on the Loire.

She was in league with Niklas. Was his come-on, in fact. He remembered the girl he had seen slipping a roll of bills under the cushion of her chair at the club not long ago, and his heart hardened against Toni.

Her interest in his motives for coming to the club, her adroit questioning of him, came back to mind. She was far from simple. She had probably played her rackets on the Continent, until it grew too hot for her.

But there was a heady attraction about her. Despite everything, he had an almost uncontrollable impulse to take her in his arms.

And it wasn't merely physical beauty. There was a spiritual emanation in those great dark eyes of hers, as though a lamp were lighted within. That made her nearness doubly dangerous.

"It's a beautiful binding," said Toni, fingering the book gently. "Royal colors. Purple and gold."

"Gilt, my dear girl. The words inside are golden. The purest treasure."

"Where moths and thieves cannot break in," she finished the quotation.

There was a long pause. Champagne at dinner, followed by the benedictine, were having heartwarming effect. Toni had never looked more lovely. The cadence of the carols, drifting through the window, seemed to heighten the voluptuous moment.

He caught her hand. It was warm and soft to the touch. Patrician. To think those beautiful hands could deal out ruin, madness, death!

He pushed her hand away from him, and rose. "May I have a highball, please?"

It would reinforce him. Give him the courage to speak freely to her. Show her the appalling nature of the traffic she was engaged in.

"Certainly. There's Scotch in that marquetry commode."

Guy helped himself to a drink. He had intended to denounce her. She saw a pulse throb in his temple as he came back to the divan. Her heart rose.

He loved her? Wanted her? She knew now that she really loved him, heart and soul.

How wonderful to belong to him! "This is marvelous. Antoinette! Just you and I!"

He had not meant to say that. But the "something" trembling in the air between them drew it from him against his better judgment.

"You mean that, Guy?"

He said hoarsely: "Your eyes are pools where a man could drown himself for desire."

"But not love?"

"What does love mean?"

"Giving!"

He misunderstood. He flung both arms about her, drawing her to him under the mistletoe, kissing her passionately.

"Please," she cried. "You're hurting me."

"Why shouldn't I hurt you? Aren't you hurting me?"

"Let go. Let me—oh, please let me go!"

He drew back. "I must seem like a brute. I'm sorry. You're so lovely. I'm sorry. You're so lovely."

The words, his tone, chilled her. Her heart sank like a stone.

She got up. He rose, also.

She moved to the fireplace. The logs no longer flamed. To her high-strung fancy, they were glowing and writhing like souls in purgatory.

Leaning an arm on the mantel, he again took her hand.

"Give up all this. Leave that swine Niklas and come away with me, Antoinette. I'll be good to you, dear."

She looked up at him with appealing eyes.

He thought: "She's looked at lots of others, poor devils, to their undoing!" But now he didn't care

Planned Security

Two-thirds of the men and women who reach 65 depend upon others for their support. The remaining one-third are independent and secure, largely through their own thrift and foresight. In a great many cases, these fortunate men and women planned their old-age security far in advance by making regular deposits in their bank accounts.

Theatre Attractions

Ann Todd, Virginia Bruce and Walter Pidgeon in a scene from "Stronger Than Desire," showing at the State Wednesday only.

Walter Pidgeon and Virginia Bruce have the leading roles in the murder mystery, "Stronger Than Desire," which is the featured attraction at the State Wednesday only.

Miss Bruce and Pidgeon were recently seen together in "Society Lawyer." The cast includes Lee Bowman, Ann Dvorak, Ilka Chase, Rita Johnson, Richard Lane, Ann Todd, Paul Stanton and Ferike Boros.

The story concerns a prominent New York lawyer, played by Pidgeon, his wife, played by Miss Bruce and their small daughter. Suspecting her husband of a flirtation, the wife retaliates with a harmless flirtation with another man and becomes involved in a blackmail scheme, a murder and a sensational trial. The husband, trying the case, is forced to unearth clues and evidence which may prove the guilt of his wife as the murderer.

Drama, mystery and comedy are well blended to make the film a good piece of screen entertainment.

Concluding tonight at the State is the sensational success "The Women," featuring Norma Shearer, Rosalind Russell and Joan Crawford. Played entirely by women, the story concerns the lives and romances of a group of wealthy women with not enough to do to keep them minding their own business. Mary Boland, Paulette Goddard, Phyllis Povah, Joan Fontaine, Virginia Weidler, Luella Watson and Florence Nash turn in excellent supporting performances.

Common Sense About Constipation

A doctor would tell you that the best thing to do with constipation is get at its cause. That way you don't have to endure it first and try to cure it afterward—you can avoid having it.

Chances are you won't have to look far for the cause if you eat the super-refined foods most people do. Most likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines.

If this is what you lack, try crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast. It contains just the "bulk" you need.

Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars." Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

This view of the market square in Radomsk, Poland, illustrates the devastating power of modern bombing planes. Practically every building was severely damaged by the Nazi raiders. Fire added to the horror. Photo flashed from Berlin to New York by radio.

HOW LONG CAN REDS HANG ON, FANS WONDER

Close Battle With Cardinals Has Continued For Nine Days

CINCINNATI, Sept. 19.—For those thousands who are asking "How long has this been going on?" the answer seems to be "The memory of man runneth not to the contrary."

Yet by searching in the records it is possible to find the beginnings of this strange National League brother act, this you-win-I-win, you-lose-I-lose of the Cincinnati Reds and the St. Louis Cardinals.

It is known, for instance, that the Reds had a 12-game lead Aug. 1 and the Cincinnati fans eagerly read information on the peculiarities of the New York Yankees. The World Series could be held at any time convenient.

Tracing down through more recent history, it is found that nine days ago, on Sept. 10, the Reds touched bottom. Their proud lead was shaved to three games and there was strong talk that they had cracked.

Margin Steady

On that day began the tantalizing proceedings. From that day to this the Reds' margin hasn't varied a game.

With but 15 games left, the Reds need but eight more victories even if the cards go so far as to win 10 of their 13 games.

The Reds take on the Phillies today in a single game which should be restful after their double-header with the Bees. Johnny Vander Meer or Bucky Walters is the Red pitcher and Hugh Mulcahy or Walter Higbe the Phill.

Yesterday's twin bill was pretty much a duplicate of the Sunday show, with Whitey Moore pitching six-hit ball to win the opener, 4 to 1, and Danny MacFayden and George Bagnall, ganging on the Reds to take the second, 5 to 4, despite home runs by Frank McCormick and Ival Goodman. Ernie Lombardi collected five hits in eight tries during the two games.

LOUIS SET FOR TITLE DEFENSE

Champion Has Contempt, Hatred In Heart For Pastor

DETROIT, Sept. 19.—Joe Louis, ready to defend the world's heavyweight championship against Bob Pastor tomorrow night, has contempt and hatred in his heart for his challenger.

Personal feeling rarely has played any part in Louis' fights, but the Negro titleholder has no liking for Pastor because of statements attributed to him and his manager, James J. Johnston, since Pastor surprisingly stayed the 10-round limit with Joe in their battle in New York in January, 1937.

Louis is determined to prove that Pastor was extremely lucky to last the 10 rounds. He is supremely confident of stopping Pastor within five rounds. The champion places this time limit on the duration of the bout even should Pastor attempt to run away from him.

The champion said: "I'm going to catch Pastor just as fast as I can. There ain't no use me foolin' around with him. The sooner I catch him the sooner my work will be finished."

30-Round Bout

Tomorrow night's battle, scheduled for 20 rounds, will be the first over the route in 25 years, since Jess Willard won the heavyweight crown from Jack Johnson in Havana in 1915. Supposedly, that distance favors Pastor, who says Louis can very easily be bewildered by feinting, causing him to miss his blows, blinds his eyes and throw up his hands in an instinctive defensive gesture.

Reporting an advance sale of $300,000, Promoter Mike Jacobs expressed confidence the fight would attract a gate of at least $400,000.

The third man in the ring will be chosen from these three: Elmer (Slim) McClelland, Sam Hennessey and Clarence Resen, all Detroiters.

Promoter Jacobs doesn't even want to discuss the possibility of a postponement because of rain but, if the weather forces one, the fight will be held on the first clear night following.

Pastor expects to scale 187 pounds and Louis about 201.

MASSILLON IS AGAIN PACING GRID WARFARE

Tigers Renew Winning Ways As Football Season Opens

BY FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Sept. 19.—Ohio's scholastic football campaign still is in its awdalling clothes, but it is making history.

Massillon's mighty Tigers, claimants of the state High school grid title, the last four years, and unbeaten in 10 straight encounters in 1938, still are on the march. Paul Brown's hefty horde tangled with Cleveland Cathedral Latin over the weekend, and emerged on the long end of a 40 to 13 count. The setback wrecked a 17-game winning streak for the Clevelanders, who capped 10 straight last year to tie five other squads with perfect records. Latin had been beaten but once in 28 contests.

Cathedral, however, had a new team on the field, with Halfback Prokop the only regular left from the 1938 squad.

A crowd of 15,000 witnessed the contest, at which Massillon dedicated its new $110,000 stadium.

On Other Fronts

There was plenty going on the other fronts. Here are some of the highlights:

Washington Court House completed three Spatnagle-to-Alkire touchdowns passes to beat Frankfort 26 to 13. Halfback Newlon scored 33 points as Greenfield McLean romped over Clarkburg by 48 to 6. Adair of Xenia romped 48 yards, and his teammate, Geyer, galloped 70 for touchdowns as Wilmington went down under a 30 to 13 count; Charley (Chad) Norris, third string back on the Alliance team a year ago, scored both touchdowns as Ironton beat Sciotoville, 14 to 0. Cliftonho had no trouble in beating McKell High of Fullerton, Ky., 48 to 0. Middle-town offered two hot-shot Negro boys in starring roles as the Midlands beat Columbus East 12 to 6, with Halfback James Watts, 180 pounder, and John Ferguson, fullback, getting the markers; Adena's 19-game winning streak was snapped with a bang as Powhatan ran up a 26 to 0 score, and William Henry Harrison (Tippy) Dye, the former Ohio State quarterback midget, made his coaching debut by sending his under-dog Grandview (Columbus) team out to beat Columbus North 1938 city champion, by 20 to 7.

Joe Koscho, Mingo Junction's right tackle, was the week's major casualty. He suffered a fractured left shoulder as his team went through a scoreless tie with Wellsburg, W. Va.

John F. Thomas, Mount Vernon's new coach via Newton Falls, Barnesville and the University of Utah, lost his opener to Dayton Fairmount's experienced squad by 20 to 0, although the Mounts had 13 first downs to four for the winners.

Hume Scores Six
Hills Home of Alliance, All-Ohio quarterback and leading class A scorer last year, started the new season with six touchdowns against Minerva.

Some of the other games on the abbreviated slate went like this: Fremont beat Bellevue 32 to 0, with 125-pound Bob Brunover running 45 yards for one touchdown, and End Bob Shaw catching a pair of passes for two others; Dillonvale 7, Tiltonville 0; Toronto 12, Lisbon 0; Hillsboro 45, Monroe 12; Columbus Holy Rosary 13, Circleville 6; Capt. Dick Acton of Lancaster tossed three touchdowns passes to Bob Householder, and scored two others on plunges, as the Golden Eagles beat Bremen 33 to 0; Troy 27, Vandalia 0; West Carrollton 6, Miamisburg 0; Sidney 3, Wapakoneta 0; Greenville 0, Bradford 0.

Elton High, west of Dayton, has dropped out of the regular football field and will play the six-man game this year. Waning interest and lack of material caused the shift.

Practically every team in the state will see action this weekend.

Pitt Alumni Is Worried About Panthers' Chances

Jock Sutherland, "Biggie" Goldberg Will Be Missed This Year As Pitt Begins To Build Again

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 19.—It's a tough football year for the ferocious Pitt Panther, much because of the loss of Ringmaster Jock Sutherland, but Pitt men say the force of Panther tradition—winning—will carry on.

No question about it, the Alumni are a little anxious over the first absence in 16 years of the great Sutherland, who guided Pitt to the imposing record of 111 wins, 20 losses and 12 ties during his regime, to say nothing of four trips to Pasadena's Rose Bowl.

The silent Scot resigned last spring after differences with the university's athletic council, and was succeeded by 40-year-old Charlie Bowser, a former understudy.

Charlie isn't saying much about the changes until after the important opener with the University of

NEW SPIRIT HELD AT MOUNT UNION

Returning Veterans May Make Winning Team For 1939

ALLIANCE, Sept. 19.—September's dreams may be only a November nightmare.

But, on the campus of Mount Union College here, they'll tell you the Purple is going to have a winning football team.

There's a new spirit in the air. Coach Harry Geltz and his aides go smilingly about their tasks. A similar atmosphere has not prevailed for three years.

Thirty-two candidates, 11 of them lettermen, answered the first practice call. With veterans in all positions, Geltz' biggest cause for rejoicing appeared to be in the available reserve strength.

Vanaman Likely Star
A newcomer expected to cut quite a figure for the Mounts is Clyde Vanaman of Lisbon, a high school star in Eastern Ohio circles who transferred here from Ohio State University.

The lettermen who returned are: John Bottomy and Dave Reed, ends; Dick Paxson, Walter Raber and Ed Sabo, tackles; Ted Ermlach and Glen Carter, guards; Howard Wilson, center; Johnny Cabas, quarterback; Martin Lovell, fullback; and Ralph Lutz, halfback.

Mount Union opens its season here Friday night against Albion College of Albion, Mich. here. Other games: Sept. 30, Miami at Oxford; Oct. 7, Muskingum at Alliance; Oct. 14, Kent State at Alliance; Oct. 21, Wooster at Wooster; Oct. 28, Heidelberg at Tiffin; Nov. 4, Hiram at Hiram; Nov. 11, Ohio Northern at Alliance; and Nov. 18, Wittenberg at Springfield.

TRIBE NOW TIED FOR THIRD SPOT

Late Victory Drive Has Enabled Indians To Tie White Sox

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—The Indians had a confident feeling about their third-place tie with Chicago today as they opened a three-game series with Washington, buried in sixth place.

Much of the Tribal assurance was built around the thought that the Sox would be facing the World Champion Yankees while the Cleveland-Washington series is on.

Also buoying Redskins spirit was the surprising victory drive that has brought 11 Indians triumphs in the last 13 starts. The latest decision in the string was over Philadelphia yesterday, 9 to 4.

The victory moved Cleveland to within three games of second place Boston.

Johnny Allen went the limit for the Indians, giving up 10 hits in notching his ninth decision. His mates pounded Rookie Sam Page for 13 hits.

Manager Oscar Vitt selected Harry Eisenstat, Mel Harder and Al Milnar to hurl the Washington games, with Eisenstat slated for the opener.

Bob Feller likely will pitch in Cleveland Friday against Detroit. Washington Huskies at Seattle on Sept. 30.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
DETROIT, Sept. 19.—Sam Hennessey, ace Michigan referee, is the choice of the insiders to referee the Pastor-Louis joust.

Remember we told you Northwestern would be so deep all around Bill De Correvant might wind up on the third team? Well, there he is!

SOVIET CHASES POLAND'S SUBS

Taking Measures Against Undersea Ships In Baltic Waters

MOSCOW, Sept. 19.—Soviet Russia's warships have embarked on "measures" against the remnants of Poland's submarine fleet, believed hiding in Baltic ports, while the Red army rolls across eastern Poland.

The precise nature of the action was not disclosed in an announcement by Tass, the official news agency. It said merely the Soviet Baltic fleet is "taking measures." "As reported from Leningrad, according to reliable information, Polish submarines are hiding in ports of the Baltic states and find there covert support on the part of certain government personages," Tass said.

"According to information available, besides Polish submarines, submarines of other states are hiding in those ports." The announcement indicated strongly that Soviet "measures" are aimed especially at Estonia, one of the small Baltic states north of Poland and adjoining Russia.

"On Sept. 18, a Polish submarine previously interned in Tallinn port of Estonia, escaped and disappeared in an unknown direction," Tass said.

This is believed to be a case of abetment on the part of Estonian authorities. The command of the Soviet Baltic fleet is taking measures against the possible diversions on the part of the submarines hiding in Baltic waters.

SPECIAL ISSUE PROGRAM HEAVY

Eighteen Certified to Election Board for November Ballots

Eighteen special issues have been certified to the board of elections for the Nov. 7 general election.

The last to be submitted was the 1-mill poor relief levy authorized by Salem city council.

The total special propositions is the largest in the county in recent years. Clerk F. R. O'Hanlon reported.

All but three of the special issues are levies for cities, villages, townships, the county and school districts. One of the municipal levies is a renewal. A 2-mill levy of one year to provide funds for the construction of a new county jail is the only countywide issue.

East Liverpool will have the largest number of issues, four besides the county jail levy. These include:

Poor relief levy of 1.5 mills for two years to provide funds to match state grants for relief through 1939 and 1940.

A levy of 1 mill for five years, a new levy replacing a one-half mill levy which expires Dec. 31, for collection of garbage.

Firemen's levy of 1 mill for three years. A new levy intended to increase the force of the fire department.

City hospital levy of 1/2 mill for five years, a renewal.

Vote Requirements
All levies except for relief require a 65 percent majority to pass. Relief levies, and beer and local option votes, of which there are three, require only a majority.

Other municipal and township levies are: A 1.5-mill poor relief levy for one year in East Palestine; a 2-mill levy for three years for park improvement in Leetonia; and a 2-mill levy for three years, for road upkeep in Middleton township.

There are six school district levies all intended to raise operating funds. They are: Lisbon, 3 mills for five years; Kensington, 1 mill for two years; East Rochester, 2 mills for three years; New Waterford, 3 mills for five years; Yellow Creek, 3 mills for five years; and the Alliance city school district, in which one precinct of Knox township, 3 mills for five years.

2 Wet-Dry Issues
Wet and dry issues will be voted on in Salineville and in West township.

Salineville voters will get a five-proposition ballot covering all phases of the sale of liquor, wine or any other intoxicants within the village and a ballot on whether or not beer shall be sold. Liquor and beer now are sold in Salineville.

West township, now dry, will vote only on the sale of beer.

To reduce the number of ballots, the election board will combine on one ballot the county levy with relief, garbage, hospital and firemen levies in East Liverpool; with the relief levy in East Palestine; with the park levy in Leetonia; and with the road levy in Middleton township.

In all other subdivisions the county jail levy will be on a separate ballot, as will all school district levies.

Fink Murder Trial Recessed To Ease Apparent Strain
PREMONT, Sept. 19.—The first-degree murder trial of 22-year-old Velma Baker Fink was in recess today on orders of Judge A. V. Baumann, who commented that the strain of six days' trial appeared to be telling on the principals.

Judge Baumann, who granted the delay at the request of Defense Counsel Ben H. Dewey, said testimony would be resumed tomorrow. The defense is expected to conclude its case then, with state rebuttal witnesses and final arguments likely to continue at least another day.

Manslaughter Case Before Grand Jury
LISBON, Sept. 19.—Twenty-five witnesses have been summoned before the grand jury today in the investigation of six cases, in addition to eight witnesses not heard on Monday.

Most important of the cases to be heard today was the investigation of the manslaughter charge against Raymond Reese of East Liverpool, which was carried over from Monday. The jury will also probe a charge of shooting with intent to kill under which Louis Pearl Howell of East Liverpool is held in the county jail in connection with the holdup of the Ray Birch service station in that city.

The grand jurors were instructed as to their duties yesterday by Judge W. F. Lones, who stressed the necessity of secrecy and the futility of returning indictments except in cases where there is a strong probability of guilt supported by evidence sufficient to warrant conviction.

Indications now are that the session will last well into next week as the investigating body delves into approximately 40 cases, several of which are secret issues. However, two of the cases to be considered, those of Carl Baker, East Liverpool, for robbery, and Norman Fletcher, also of East Liverpool, for breaking and entering with intent to steal, are merely matters of form because both men have been returned to state institutions as parole violators.

ALLIES AWAIT MAJOR BATTLE

France, Britain Strengthening War Line On Western Front

(By Associated Press)
PARIS, Sept. 19.—France and Britain strengthened their war line on the western front today in anticipation of a major battle as soon as German reinforcements are rushed back from Poland.

Entry of Red armies from Russia into war-battered Poland was viewed here as speeding the task of German divisions in the east and making more men and equipment available for defense of the west wall.

Colonials Mobilized
French reports said the nation's colonial troops were mobilized fully and ready to bolster her French attack.

The communique did not specify where the fighting took place, but it was believed to be in the shell-pounded region south of Saarbrücken, where French and German forces have fought numerous minor engagements.

British troops were said to have moved into position in the area of France's Maginot line through tunnels to the vast defense works.

Reinforcements, the French said, were moving up steadily from the rear through World war battle sites and the crumbling concrete works of Germany's old Hindenburg line.

Sees Diplomatic Campaign
Meanwhile, belief was expressed that Berlin would aim a diplomatic campaign at such neutral countries as Belgium, the Netherlands, Rumania, and the Balkan nations.

There was a feeling, too, that Germany, which the French say is not in a position to afford a long war, would strike hard in the west—perhaps even through neutral territory, according to some observers.

Officially, France apparently has decided to await the full significance of the Russian invasion of Poland before making any declaration.

Pick-up In Work Seen In Telephone Business Increase

The pre-depression peak here was 2,850 telephones, reached in November, 1931. Then the losses started and continued until the figure dropped to 1,906 telephones in July, 1933. Since that time the company has regained 954 telephones, and now it has 2,850 instruments here.

"The gain throughout the state has been substantial and is encouraging because it has been steady," said Willman.

"Many customers who are being sold service, or who are applying for service indicate that they are going back to work. Business men I talk to are very much interested in our telephone growth and invariably seem cheered when they learn of the encouraging trends."

The Ohio Bell had a net gain throughout the state of 17,578 telephones last year, and it is estimated that the increase this year will double that. At the beginning of this year, the Ohio Bell had 713,528 telephones. Then, at the end of February, it passed its pre-depression peak of 721,832, reached in April, 1930, and now has more than 737,260 instruments throughout its territory.

GERMANS USING CAPTURED GUNS

Several Thousand Warplanes Sent To Western Front

(By Associated Press)
BAZEL, Switzerland, Sept. 19.—The morale of Germany's westward fighting strength, was reported today to have been boosted by the arrival of captured Polish guns and other equipment and the allocation of several thousand warplanes no longer needed on the eastern front.

The German manpower also has been increased greatly by shift of army divisions from east.

Along the Rhine, Saar and Moselle river valleys the German watchword became: "We have finished our part in the Polish campaign; now we will hold the Siegfried line against the French."

The French felt, however, they had demonstrated their ability to cling to their gains despite the repeated counterattacks and "over the top" direct assaults of the past week.

Use Varied Attack

Typical of the French forward movement has been the penetrating along the Blies creek front, between the rich industrial center of Saarbrücken—still objective No. 1 of the drive—and Zweibrücken, 10 miles farther east.

(There the boundary runs east and west, and the French attack is from the south.) Well-equipped patrols, sometimes supported by tanks, first were reported to have wiped out enemy advance positions, usually without the use of artillery. Then, after concentrated artillery fire, the attackers struck at main defense lines from their captured positions.

Using such tactics, the French were said to have won control of the entire Blies creek area almost ten miles deep into German territory.

Manslaughter Case Before Grand Jury

LISBON, Sept. 19.—Twenty-five witnesses have been summoned before the grand jury today in the investigation of six cases, in addition to eight witnesses not heard on Monday.

Most important of the cases to be heard today was the investigation of the manslaughter charge against Raymond Reese of East Liverpool, which was carried over from Monday. The jury will also probe a charge of shooting with intent to kill under which Louis Pearl Howell of East Liverpool is held in the county jail in connection with the holdup of the Ray Birch service station in that city.

The grand jurors were instructed as to their duties yesterday by Judge W. F. Lones, who stressed the necessity of secrecy and the futility of returning indictments except in cases where there is a strong probability of guilt supported by evidence sufficient to warrant conviction.

France, Britain Strengthening War Line On Western Front

(By Associated Press)
PARIS, Sept. 19.—France and Britain strengthened their war line on the western front today in anticipation of a major battle as soon as German reinforcements are rushed back from Poland.

Entry of Red armies from Russia into war-battered Poland was viewed here as speeding the task of German divisions in the east and making more men and equipment available for defense of the west wall.

Colonials Mobilized
French reports said the nation's colonial troops were mobilized fully and ready to bolster her French attack.

The number of colonial troops was described as considerably in excess of the total of effective fighting men called to the tri-color from the empire during the World war.

In the regular morning communique, the French general staff announced repulse of a localized German attack, launched during the night "in the region east of the Saar river."

The communique did not specify where the fighting took place, but it was believed to be in the shell-pounded region south of Saarbrücken, where French and German forces have fought numerous minor engagements.

British troops were said to have moved into position in the area of France's Maginot line through tunnels to the vast defense works.

Reinforcements, the French said, were moving up steadily from the rear through World war battle sites and the crumbling concrete works of Germany's old Hindenburg line.

Meanwhile, belief was expressed that Berlin would aim a diplomatic campaign at such neutral countries as Belgium, the Netherlands, Roumania, and the Balkan nations.

There was a feeling, too, that Germany, which the French say is not in a position to afford a long war, would strike hard in the west—perhaps even through neutral territory, according to some observers.

The Ohio Bell Telephone company has regained the number of telephones it lost in Salem during the big depression, according to Carl F. Willman, the company's commercial manager.

The pre-depression peak here was 2,850 telephones, reached in November, 1931. Then the losses started and continued until the figure dropped to 1,906 telephones in July, 1933. Since that time the company has regained 954 telephones, and now it has 2,860 instruments here.

"The gain throughout the state has been substantial and is encouraging because it has been steady," said Willman.

"Many customers who are being sold service, or who are applying for service indicate that they are going back to work. Business men I talk to are very much interested in our telephone growth and invariably seem cheered when they learn of the encouraging trends."

The Ohio Bell had a net gain throughout the state of 17,578 telephones last year, and it is estimated that the increase this year will double that. At the beginning of this year, the Ohio Bell had 713,528 telephones. Then, at the end of February, it passed its pre-depression peak of 721,832, reached in April, 1930, and now has more than 737,260 instruments throughout its territory.

GERMANS USING CAPTURED GUNS

(By Associated Press)
BAZEL, Switzerland, Sept. 19.—The morale of Germany's west wall defenders, as well as their actual fighting strength, was reported today to have been boosted by the arrival of captured Polish guns and other equipment and the allocation of several thousand warplanes no longer needed on the eastern front.

The German manpower already has been increased greatly by the shift of army divisions from the east.

Along the Rhine, Saar and Moselle river valleys the German watchword became: "We have finished our part in the Polish campaign; now we will hold the Siegfried line against the French."

The French felt, however, they had demonstrated their ability to cling to their gains despite the repeated counterattacks and "over the top" direct assaults of the past week.

Use Varied Attack

Breaking down their attack into a system of infiltration, spearheaded by small units, the French had advanced their battle line steadily through pillbox-guarded advance posts to a line roughly parallel to the Siegfried defenses.

Typical of the French forward movement has been the penetration along the Blies creek front, between the rich industrial center of Saarbrücken—still objective No. 1 of the drive—and Zweibrücken, 16 miles farther east.

(There the boundary runs east and west, and the French attack is from the south.) Well-equipped patrols, sometimes supported by tanks, first were reported to have wiped out enemy advance positions, usually without the use of artillery. Then, after concentrated artillery fire, the attackers struck at main defense lines from their captured positions.

Using such tactics, the French were said to have won control of the entire Blies creek area almost ten miles deep into German territory.
